PROFILE

I am a Senior Research Fellow with the Department of Peace Studies, School for Development Studies, University of Cape Coast, Ghana. My research works focus on peace, security and development nexus with specialisation in conflict analysis, conflict mapping, conflict sensitivity, early warning system design and peace education. I am a certified conflict management trainer and a professional mediator. I am the convenor of the Peace and Development Research Cluster at the Department of Peace Studies. I have led the Cluster to map conflicts and analyse conflict trends in Ghana. The report for this particular project which depicts in interactive maps, the conflict hotspots in the country, has been of immense support to the security sector in election security management. I am also the team leader in the Supporting Infrastructures for Peace Project that first assessed the capacity of the National Peace Council (NPC) of Ghana and secondly to design mechanisms to build resilient structures for conflict prevention and peacebuilding. in Ghana. During the implementation of this project, we built the capacity of the NPC to in conflict prevention , resolution and management. In addition, the team developed manuals for the NPC to be used in training peace actors across different levels in the country, notably, the Metropolitan, Municipal and District Security Committees. The team further produced an edited book titled Building Sustainable Peace in Ghana. I was a team member for the Conflict Development Assessment for Ghana (2020) and served as a consultant for the National Peace Council in developing a road map to eradicate political vigilantism in Ghana. I am the current Chair for the West Africa Network for Peace Building (WANEP)-Ghana.
